THE SERIES OF 1929 NATIONAL BANK NOTES

Map 1. Towns containing banks that issued Series of 1929 National Bank Notes.

by Peter W. Huntoon

Arizona's small-size National Bank Notes have been a fascination to this writer for 15 years. When you get away from Arizona's big four '29 banks, specifically Tucson (4287), Phoenix (3728), Phoenix (4729), and Nogales (6591), you move into rare territory. In fact, some of Arizona's small note issues are incredibly rare and match with equal footing their large-size counterparts. This article is designed to acquaint you with the Series of 1929 notes from this beautiful southwestern state and give you insights into some factors that make some of her small notes so desirable.

HISTORY

Arizona began her National banking history as a late starter in 1882 with the First National Bank of Tucson, Territory of Arizona, charter 2639. This bank was a First Charter bank that was the outgrowth of the Jacob Brothers Mercantile firm which began operating in Tucson in 1867. The brothers Lionel and Barron developed a currency exchange in which they bought U.S. currency for between 65 and 85 cents on the gold dollar. The paper was sent to their father Mark in San Francisco, who sold it for between 86-1/2 and 89 cents on the gold dollar. The new gold went to Tucson.

Eventually the Jacob brothers entered the loan business in order to extend credit to their customers and organized the Pima County Bank to facilitate their operations. This bank was reorganized as the First National Bank of Tucson but the National Charter apparently has some disadvantages because the bank was liquidated three years later in 1885 and reorganized as the Bank of Tucson under a territorial charter. The $5 First Charter notes from this bank rank as ultimate territorial rarities.

The Jacob brothers' Bank of Tucson was successful and in 1887 it merged with the Bank of D. Henderson to become in 1890 the Consolidated National Bank with charter 4287. The Consolidated grew into the largest note-issuing enterprise in the state but the great depression just about killed it off. Late in the depression the Consolidated National Bank was purchased for a pittance by the budding Valley National Bank of Phoenix (charter 14324) which was just four charters younger than the last note-issuing bank in the country.

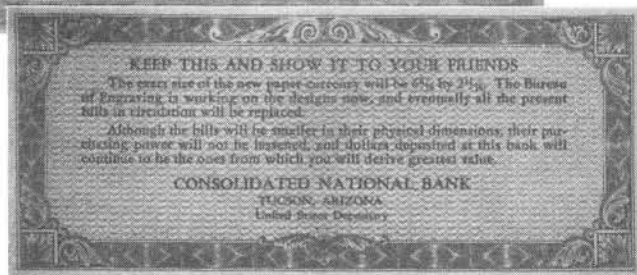

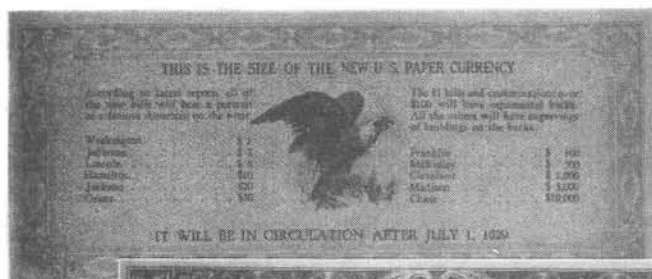

Other banks in the state were following similar courses, weaving back and forth between Federal and territorial or state charters. Many eventually ended up as part of the mammoth Valley National Bank system. This resulted because Arizona has very progressive and liberal branch total numbers of notes and denominations issued by the 11 individual banks are shown in Table 2. You will observe a dramatic range in total notes issued by these banks and will begin to fathom the rarity of certain bank's notes. Table 3 summarizes the individual circulations for the banks during the Series of 1929 era.

THE SIGNERS

The bank signatures on the Arizona 1929 Nationals appear in Table 3. Those that have been observed on 1929 notes are flagged. I suspect that the Holbrook (12198) Henning-McEvoy combination also exists but have not seen it. The Phoenix (4729) Coerver-Calvert combination is not possible because the bank never used type 2 notes due to the fact that their supply of type 1 notes was sufficient to carry the bank through 1935.

One cashier, poor P.E. Leatherman, was discovered to be a petty thief who helped himself to bank funds in order to maintain his wine, women, and song, so the Consolidated National Bank (4287) ran him out of town during the banking laws which have contributed significantly to the financial growth, stability, and safety that have characterized Arizona banking since the depression. In fact, the Valley National Bank is the largest of the branch banking systems operating in the state and today enjoys the status of being among the ten largest banks in the west.

THE ISSUANCES

Of the 30 banks chartered in Arizona, only 11 were in operation during the 1929 to 1935 period. Each of these issued notes, none having relinquished their note-issuing authority to the Federal Reserve system. In 1929, when the small-size notes were introduced, Arizona had $1,025,000 worth of National currency in circulation but the total declined to only $857,000 by 1935. This resulted because Arizona was hard hit by the depression, particularly in the agricultural sphere.

Table 1 shows the denominations that were issued by the Arizona banks, and you will immediately notice that no $50 or $100 Series of 1929 notes are possible. Type 2 notes account for only 12 percent of the total 1929 issue, a figure noticeably lower than the national average. The summer of 1933 and replaced him with E.W. Clayton. Clayton's signature appears on the last of the bank's type 2 notes and his notes are rather scarce.

RARITY

The relative rarity by bank of Arizona's 1929 issues appears in Table 5 and is a function of several important factors, among them: (1) the total circulation of the bank, (2) the length of time during which the notes were issued, (3) the denominations issued by the bank, and (4) the specific hoarding traits of certain individuals.

Obviously the tiny size of the Holbrook (12198) circulation, which amounted to only $10,000, easily explains the extreme rarity of this bank's 1929 notes. Likewise the 1929 notes from the Tempe National Bank (5720) are unusually rare because the bank's circulation was very small until a sudden but short-lived jump to $50,000 in 1933.

The First National Bank of Prescott (13262) epitomizes the rarity of a short-lived bank. The bank issued notes for only 129 days during the winter of 1932-33, and in addition the circulation of the bank was small at $30,000. Small notes from Prescott should be the rarest of Arizona's 1929 issues but as you will see, they are not due to a quirk of fate.

As expected, notes from the Consolidated National Bank of Tucson are the most common of Arizona's small notes. In fact, the Consolidated notes account for more than a third of all the Arizona 1929 notes in collections today and about half of these are CU.

The untimely liquidations of the First National Bank of Flagstaff (11120), the First National Bank of Mesa (11130), and the Nogales National Bank (11012) created rarity among their notes. Although the Mesa bank has a circulation of $100,000, notes from this bank are scarce. I attribute their scarcity to the fact that the bank bowed out early in 1932. I have yet to obtain for my own collection a small note from Flagstaff (11120) or Nogales (11012).

Notes from the First National Bank of Holbrook (12198) seem to be far rarer than even the bank's small $10,000 circulation would indicate. I attribute this to the fact that the bank only issued $5's and these seem to have been more completely redeemed than the higher denominations issued by other banks.

THE PRESCOTT SHEETS

Two special circumstances resulted in abnormally high preservation rates for two of Arizona's banks. The most unusual was the fact that one of the early collectors, probably Colonel Green, obtained the number one $5 and $10 sheets from the First National Bank in Prescott (13262). The $5 sheet was later purchased by Albert A. Grinnell and then sold to William P. Donlon in 1946 or so. The sheet currently resides in the extensive sheet holdings of the David Levitt estate. The $10 sheet was cut up years ago and the six notes have gone to the four winds. If the $20 sheet was saved, its whereabouts is a mystery to this researcher. Anyway, the significance of these sheets is the fact that they represent 12 CU notes which account for 12/13th's of the known notes from the bank! Only one circulated note seems to have turned up and that is a $5 with serial C000127A in VF which some jerk almost ruined with a bad wash job.

Representative Series of 1929 National Bank Notes issued by Arizona banks.

THE CONSOLIDATED HOARD

The second unusual circumstance involves the type 2 $20's on the Consolidated National Bank of Tucson (4287). Any knowledgeable dealer will tell you that it is easier to obtain a CU type 2 $20 on Tucson than any other Arizona small note in any grade. A large hoard of these notes with serials mostly between A001100 and A001300 was saved in virtually gem condition. For years these notes have been leaking into Tucson's cash drawers as some pitiful old woman spends her 1930 vintage hoard. Sometimes they turn up in groups of five or six; at other times they appear singly in gas station cash registers. The fact is, though, that they keep coming out, particularly before Christmas. I occasionally got them from various sources during the time I collected in Tucson between 1963 and 1970. I never found the ultimate source but saw an awful lot of beautiful notes during the chase! I estimate that only a third of the notes she spent ever reached the numismatic market; others turn up as keepsakes just about anywhere in Tucson. By the way, I used to pay between $30 and $37.50 for these when I lived in Tucson. Ah, for the good old days.

You will notice from Table 1 that only 6,920 type 2 $20's were issued in Arizona but because of the Consolidated hoard, they are quite common, at least from Tucson! The Winslow shown here is quite another case!

A comparison between the totals shown on Table 2 and rarity as shown on Table 5 illustrates that rarity is primarily dependent on the total number of notes issued by the individual banks. This result is totally expected but special circumstances such as the Prescott sheets altered the ranking drastically.

COMPARISON TO LARGE NOTE RARITY

It is interesting to compare the rarity of 1929 notes with the rarity of the large-size issues from the same banks. Of the 11 banks treated here, only Prescott (13262) did not issue horseblankets. Large notes from Flagstaff (11120), Holbrook (12198), and Nogales (11012) are actually more plentiful than small notes from these same banks. Series of 1929 notes on the First National Bank of Nogales rank as common by Arizona standards but notice when the 1929 period began, the bank had a

Some Early Branch Bank Notes Identified From

THE BANK OF DARIEN, GEORGIA

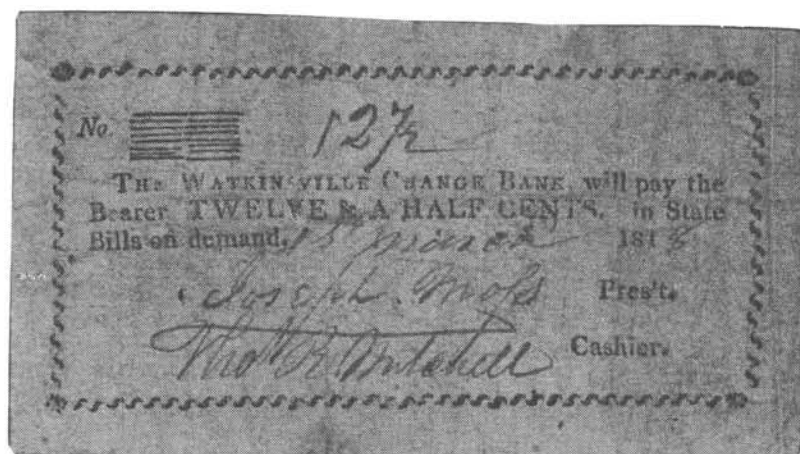

Figure 3. 12½¢ note from the Watkinsville Change Bank, which was to become a branch bank of the Bank of Darien, Georgia.

By the late 1700s, all the various issues of Continental and Colonial currency had been redeemed or had become worthless. From that time to 1810, the banking needs of the people of Georgia were poorly satisfied by private sources and the Bank of the United States through its branch at Savannah. The private sources were inadequate and often unscrupulous, and the Federal Bank was unpopular and considered by many to be unconstitutional. The thought that profits were being made and taken out of the state increased the contempt the public felt for this infringement on states' rights. Consequently, there was an ever-increasing need for reliable banking institutions, owned and operated by the citizens of the state as stockholders, which could issue a circulating medium of exchange in which the public had confidence.

The state recognized this need, and the first state banks in Georgia were chartered in 1810. The Bank of Augusta received its charter on December 6 of that year, and the Planters Bank, located in Savannah, was chartered on December 19. Five years later, the Bank of the State of Georgia, also located in Savannah, was opened.

Although difficulties were experienced from time to time, these three banks more or less thrived and were a great benefit to commerce and industry in the state. There was still, however, a large area of the state without the convenience of banking facilities. Consequently, when the Bank of Darien was chartered on December 15, 1818, provisions were made in its charter for the establishment of branch offices in 15 other locations in the state. A large portion of the state was unsettled frontier and Indian land and the branch offices were to be situated in that section of the state most densely settled (Fig. 1). The charter listed the names of the individuals under whose direction and supervision the parent bank and each office were to be operated. A list of these men and the number of shares of stock allotted for distribution by each location will be found in Table I.

Few notes from these early branch banks or offices still exist; indeed it is not even known which offices actually went into operation or which of them issued notes. Furthermore, some of the notes that were issued can easily be erroneously identified as private scrip because the name of the parent bank at Darien was not printed on some notes. Identification of one of these notes can be confirmed by comparing the signature(s) on the note with the names of those gentlemen listed in the charter as being responsible for the individual branch offices. Such is the case with the notes from Greensboro signed by D. (Daniel) B. Sanford. Notes known from this branch are 6¼¢, 12¢, and 50¢ (Fig. 2).

Two of the men under whom the Watkinsville branch was to function were Joseph Moss and Thomas R. Mitchell. The Watkinsville note illustrated in Figure 3 displays the signatures of these gentlemen; however, this note clearly identifies itself as a private change bank note; furthermore, it is dated March 15, exactly nine months prior to the founding of the Bank of Darien.

One of the men named to be in charge of the Milledgeville branch was John Lucas. The 50¢ and $2.00 notes illustrated in Figure 4 were signed by Lucas, but, like the Watkinsville note, were dated before the charter date of the Bank of Darien. Apparently these men were already operating in Watkinsville and Milledgeville when the Bank of Darien was chartered, but the same session of the legislature which issued the Bank of Darien's charter passed a law against private banking. The law was designed "more effectually to prevent the evils of private banking and to stop the issuing and circulating of the bills and notes of unchartered banks, private banks, and the bills and notes usually called change bills." Obviously, as a matter of convenience for everyone, the Watkinsville Change Bank and John Lucas' private bank became branches of the Bank of Darien.

Notes are known to be extant from only one other of these early branches, Marion. In later years branches were established in other towns including Augusta, Auraria, Dahlonega, Macon, and Savannah, and at one time the Bank of Darien was known as the richest bank south of Philadelphia. This prosperity was short-lived, however, as the bank soon began to suffer losses due to generally poor judgment in making loans and over-issuing notes. A severe hurricane in 1824 bankrupted a number of the bank's creditors and the devastating worldwide depression of 1837 dealt the final blow. The name and charter were maintained until 1841, at which time the bank was terminated. Once an important port city, and the home of wealthy and influential politicians and plantation owners, Darien now exists as a small, sleepy town on the Georgia coast with a population of less than 2,000.

Individual National Banks By States Whose Notes Of The 1929-1935 Issuing Period Remain Unreported

by M. Owen Warns, NLG

We are privileged to bring to our Society members a recapitulation of those banks whose National Bank Notes of the 1929-1935 issuing period have not yet been reported over the past eight years of on-going search. These small-size notes were issued to 6,994 individual banks between July 15, 1929 and July 22, 1935, at which time the issue ceased, the bonds deposited with the Comptroller of the Currency covering the issuing of National Bank circulating notes having been called in.

The accompanying table identifies those banks by states and charter numbers whose notes remain unreported to date. In many instances the notes from these banks were not circulated due to the banks' strong financial structure, thus enabling them to conduct their banking business without having to rely on the circulating notes issued to them.

The initial reporting of the small-size National Bank Notes began in the 1968-69 period when SPMC member Arlie Slabaugh ran a listing at various intervals in Lee Hewitt's Numismatic Scrapbook. In 1970 the Society of Paper Money Collectors published The National Bank Note Issues of 1929-1935 by Warns, Huntoon and Van Belkum wherein can be found on pages 115 through 191 a complete listing of the banks, their charter numbers, and the denominations of the note or notes issued to them. The notes reported up until the publication date of the book are indicated with an asterisk placed at the right of the denomination.

The number of banks whose notes had not been reported up until 1970 has since been narrowed down considerably with the additional listings appearing in five supplements of the issues of Paper Money, as follows:

- Supplement I — 1971, Volume 10 #1, whole #37, page 9-12
- Supplement II — 1974, Volume 13 #6, whole #54, pages 253-256
- Supplement III — 1976, Volume 15 #1, whole #61, pages 15-18
- Supplement IV — 1977, Volume 16 #5, whole #71, pages 280-283
- Supplement V — 1978 Volume 17 #3, whole #75, pages 141-2 & 177

At this time, the number of banks whose notes remain unreported has been reduced to 1,442 or 20.6%. There is still searching to be done!

Problems in Collecting Modern World Paper Money Presented by Invisible Security Systems

by Barbara R. Mueller, NLG

Seymour Berry, director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, told a subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee in March of this year that an "electronic anti-counterfeit signature" will be added to the nation's currency in the near future. With that statement he indicated that the United States would be joining the ranks of other nations and international security printers in utilizing advanced new technology to foil counterfeits as well as speed currency handling.

Understandably, Berry was vague about the exact nature of the technology but he indicated that notes with the invisible signature probably would be identified by a distinctively colored seal. He elaborated on the project at the 2nd Annual International Paper Money Show in Memphis in June. The signature will serve also as a sort of encoding device to trigger automated counting, sorting and authenticating equipment. Speculation has it that the system will involve materials reactive to ultraviolet rays.

Use of such materials in inks and/or papers is not new to printers like Thomas De La Rue. Overprinting invisible to the naked eye on "foreign" notes includes the denomination, bank name symbols and design devices. American Bank Note Co. has its latent image as seen on our SPMC membership cards as well as the visible old planchettes (colored paper discs embedded in the note paper).

Undoubtedly contemporary currency does need extra protection against the scientific techniques that threaten the best of earlier-day security schemes as well as added capabilities for machine processing. But the introduction of invisible systems creates a problem for collectors and cataloguers as well as counterfeiters.

The problem for the former two groups is actually a decision which must be made: Should features which cannot be seen readily by the naked eye without the assistance of mechanical/magnifying devices be accorded catalog status (aside from mere catalog mention) and be considered major collectables distinct from their seeming look-alikes? It is difficult even to phrase such a question, let alone resolve it in the best interests of the hobby. Therefore, reader input is desired. Share your thoughts with us.

Parallels from the World of Philately

Insight and guidance can be gained now, however, by studying similar problems experienced by stamp collectors for decades. Probably the oldest security device used for paper is the watermark, but stamp watermarks differ considerably from those on paper money. They are smaller and more cryptic. Their presence is not proclaimed by a blank, unprinted area on the face. For the most part they are obscure or even hidden on the back side, their perception or use not considered necessary for the average postal patron. Whereas just ordinary transmitted light will reveal most paper money watermarks, more involved means are needed to visualize stamp watermarks, particularly those used on U.S. stamps in the early 20th century.

Until recently watermark detection meant placing the stamp face down in black plastic tray and immersing it in what is now considered a harmful liquid, such as carbon tetrachloride. One had to watch closely for that split second when the fluid penetrated the paper and threw into contrast the lighter or thinner paper area into which the watermark design was impressed during manufacture. Now available are electric detectors in which the stamps are viewed through lighted colored discs that neutralize color and bring up the watermarks in dark lines against a lighter background. The latest gadget, selling at $29.95, is the English-made Morley-Bright detector, a kit in which the stamp is sandwiched between protective plastic and special inks impressed on special papers over it to show up and even record the watermark.

(The British trade journal Philatelic Exporter reported in its April 1978 issue that the Morley-Bright detector was pressed into use for "the quick identification of the forged 1,000 guilder notes that have been circulating in the Netherlands since early last year. The detector quickly reveals whether a suspect note has a genuine or imitation watermark," the magazine stated.)

Philatelic custom has decreed conferring separate major catalog numbers and hence major variety status on varying watermark designs on otherwise identical stamps. Such custom arose because at the time watermarks were first used and noted (even the Penny Black, the first stamp, was printed on watermarked paper), collectors needed more items to collect and dealers more stamps to sell. Today there is an over-abundance of stamps on the market, so contemporary collectors who ignore 19th and early 20th century issues tend to ignore watermarks, too, just as issuing countries for the most part have abandoned them. But the original concepts of cataloguing remain except in the case of Stanley Gibbons Stamps of the World compendium which omits watermark varieties.

Contrast this with the stated policy of Krause Publications' Standard Catalog of World Paper Money: "The listings in this catalog are arranged by bank or other authority of issue, and thereunder in dates of issue groupings as carried on the notes. Individual issue listings are arranged by denomination, with the primary face side vignettes and colors indicated. Where appropriate to the identification of a type or major variety, additional details on back designs, watermarks, overprints and similar differences are noted." Watermarks are not specifically described or pictured in most cases.

Just as philatelists thought the bothersome, eye-straining watermarks were dead issue, along came luminescence as a tool of postal mechanization and automation similar to the proposed BEP invisible security system for Federal Reserve Notes. In 1957, the British Post Office introduced automatic letter facing equipment activated by black graphite lines printed on the back of its stamps. A year later these easily seen lines were replaced by overprinted but translucent, nearly invisible "phosphor" bands on the face. "Phosphor" is a catchall term for stamps overprinted, inked or impregnated with phosphorescent or fluorescent substances. These stamps are collectively called luminescent because they emit light rays of a certain wavelength when subjected to radiation under ultraviolet lamps. The resulting brief glow is seen by a scanner which then separates various mail classes, etc. Collectors also use the term "tagged" for such treated stamps.

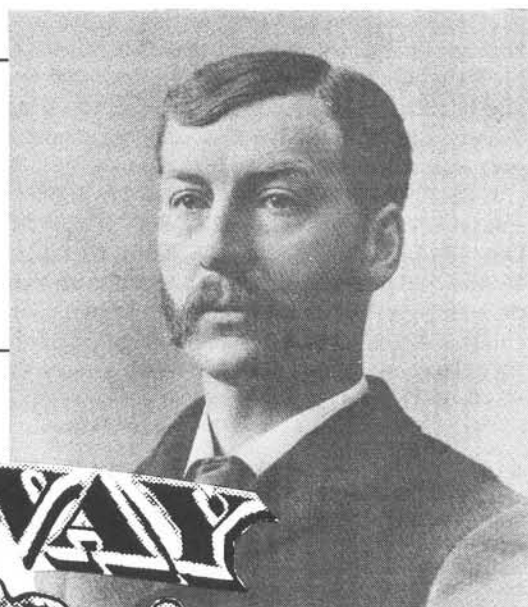

As Germany, Canada and Denmark quickly followed Britain's example, it seemed that a new specialty was being born. The U.S. postal tagging program began in 1963 at Dayton, Ohio under the supervision of the National Cash Register Co. For the next decade, one of the "hot" collecting fields was tagged stamps and those inadvertently issued without tagging. Special handbooks were written; several types of hand-held and desk UV lamps were adapted for philatelic use. But today, as tagging of stamps has become the rule rather than the exception (Sweden, however, just announced plans to abandon it as a failure), only a few hardy enthusiasts pay much attention to it. The major catalogs mention it only as a sub-variation or in segregated sections. The fact that the invisible coatings tend to disappear after a stamp has been used, doubts about the durability of the coatings even under ideal states of preservation, and reluctance of many collectors to bother with potentially harmful UV rays has relegated luminescence collecting to the status of a minor specialty.

So drawing on the philatelic experience, one wonders whether, after an initial period of enthusiasm over collecting notes with the invisible security systems, syngraphists will simply ignore the whole thing as too complicated. Will they become discouraged over the difficulties of exhibiting their varieties in competitions? Will they take the attitude of what can't be seen with average natural vision aided by an ordinary reading glass under normal light intensities should be ignored? Whatever the answer, syngraphists have an interesting collecting period just ahead.

The Story of a Rhode Island Banker

by Frank Bennett

For 57 years, from 1885 until 1942, Frank Hill was cashier of Ashaway National Bank. During this period Mr. Hill worked for the betterment of not only the bank, but his community and his adopted state of Rhode Island as well.

Frank Hill had a long association with Leverett Briggs, who became president of Ashaway National Bank in 1898. From the early 1890's until Mr. Briggs passed away in 1932, scarcely anything of importance happened in Ashaway in which these two men were not involved.

In the early 1900's, they purchased Ashaway Line and Twine Mfg. Co. which was having financial problems, and in 1903, the idle Rockville Mills which furnished cotton yarn for the Ashaway plant. In 1913, they formed Yawgo Line and Twine Company which made heavy tarred lines used for halibut fishing and heavy nets. Later they purchased the Centerville Mills to obtain more cotton yarn.

In 1907, Frank Hill helped his son-in-law establish Ashaway Clay Company, which produced 60,000 bricks a day. Getting the bricks to market led to the formation of the Ashaway and Westerly Railway Co. Nearby mills had sidings run to their plants. There was a great deal of excitement when the first car traveled over the new tracks. Previously, people could go to Westerly only by stage coach, but now they had a faster, inexpensive method of travel. As each new business was formed, it not only gave employment to more people but also made business for the bank.

Frank Hill had come to Ashaway in 1882 as a teacher. Even though he left his profession after three years to enter the bank, he retained a keen interest in education. In 1893, he was elected a member of the Rhode Island General Assembly, an office he held for five years. While in the legislature he was the promoter of a survey of public education made in 1897. This led to the enactment of a law that included provision for consolidation of schools, certification of teachers and state support for high school education. Because of his interest in education, Hill was elected to the Rhode Island State Board of Education, serving on the board for 36 years. He was also a Trustee of Rhode Island College of Education and manifested an unusual interest in the training of teachers, which is the particular function of the College of Education.

In June 1933, the Rhode Island State College conferred upon Frank Hill the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. His citation read in part: "Frank Hill, banker, legislator, educator, teacher, recipient of the bachelors and masters degrees from Alfred University, honored in his adopted state of Rhode Island, respected in his local community, leader in state affairs, cashier of the Ashaway National Bank since 1885, member of the General Assembly from 1893 to 1898, friend of the Rhode Island State College in its hour of need, sponsor of worthy community and state projects."

Frank Hill led a full, long life before he passed away in 1955 at the age of 94.

The Bank and Its Notes

The Ashaway Bank was organized in 1855, and in 1865 it became Ashaway National Bank. The bank was liquidated in 1946, thus ending 91 years of service. Frank Hill had served as cashier for 57 years, over half the period of the bank's existence. Very few bank notes from Ashaway National bank are around today, but most that do exist bear the name of Frank Hill. He would have signed just about all of the Second Charter Period notes, all of the Third Charter Period notes, and his signature was engraved on all of the series of 1929 notes.

As S.K. Whitfield showed us in his article on "Rhode Island's 'Country' National Banks," (Paper Money Sept.-Oct. 1977), a First Charter $5, Third Charter Plain Bank $5 and $20 plus 1929 $5, $10 and $20 notes have been reported. Since his article appeared, I have heard of a First Charter $1 on this bank but have not been able to verify its existence. The Second Charter Brownbacks remain unreported, as do the Third Charter Red Seals and Date Backs. The 1929 $5 and $10 #1 sheets were preserved and have been cut. These notes, I believe, account for a large portion of the small size notes known. I would be interested in knowing of any 1929 notes on this bank with serial numbers other than #1.

Table 1 shows the notes issued by Ashaway National Bank while Table 2 shows the signature combinations appearing on them. It is interesting to note the 1929 type 1 $20 S.K. Whitfield used to illustrate his article carries the signatures of Frank Hill and John S. Cole. They served together for the shortest period, only eight months, of any cashier and president.

Acknowledgements

I am grateful to Mr. Lloyd G. Briggs, grandson of Leverett Briggs, for providing me with a copy of an unpublished manuscript entitled "The Ashaway Bank Story." This was written in 1957 by A. Lloyd Briggs, Leverett Briggs' son.

I am also indebted to Ashaway Free Library which sent me a booklet entitled The Biography of the Honorable Frank Hill and History of the Ashaway National Bank. This booklet was written in our bicentennial year by Frank Hill's son, Frank Maxson Hill. The highlight of this endeavor was a meeting with the younger Mr. Hill. Now in his 86th year, his remarkable memory provided many details. To my surprise and delight, I found Mr. Hill at his winter home in south Florida, only 15 miles from my own home.

BOOK PROJECT ROUND UP

by Wendell Wolka

This marks the first column of what is planned to be a regular feature in Paper Money. Its purpose is to keep you advised regarding the progress of the Society's mammoth Wismer Update Project.

For those of you who are not familiar with this undertaking, SPMC is in the process of cataloging all known obsolete notes from every state in the Continental United States. One of the bases for this work is the series of listings which the late D.C. Wismer put together during the 1920's and 1930's in the Numismatist. Through this pioneering effort, some of the first attempts to popularize the field of obsolete notes were made.

Meet the Authors

You are urged to directly contact any of the authors whom you may be able to assist by reporting rare note descriptions and other important information. It is only through everyone's cooperation and assistance that we can obtain the highest degree of accuracy and completeness in these obsolete note references.

The following is a listing of all the states still being worked on, along with the person or persons responsible for researching each state's issues.

Upcoming Books

The next catalog to be completed will be Indiana. It should be available for sale well before the end of the year.

Past Books

If you've been putting off completing your library of SPMC state reference catalogs, there's not much time left! The following books are either in short supply or completely sold out.

Vermont — SOLD OUT

Florida — Less than 30 copies left

Remaining books may be ordered from Harold Hauser (along with all of our other books, of course) using the form in the front of this issue.

Eyes Needed

One of the most important types of collections which must be checked for our catalogs are those owned by major museums across the country. Many times authors are not able to check out these institutional collections first hand due to the time and distance involved. It would greatly simplify matters if we could have a set of "resident eyes" available to check these collections out from time to time for the various authors if they request assistance.

If you live near one of the following locations and could act as a volunteer "spotter" on occasion, please contact me at once. Easy to use forms can be provided for your convenience in listing the museum's holdings: Cleveland, Ohio — Western Reserve Historical Society; Washington, D.C. — Smithsonian Institution; New York City — Various institutions; Boys Town, Nebraska — Boys Town PhilaMatic Center.

Your comments and suggestions are always welcomed by me at the following address: Wendell Wolka, P.O. Box 366, Hinsdale, IL 60521.

SPMC REGIONAL MEETING SET AT VNA

Dr. and Mrs. V. Clain-Stefanelli have consented to be the guest speakers at the regional Society of Paper Money Collectors luncheon to be held at noon September 16th. This luncheon is being held in conjunction with the Virginia Numismatic Association's 20th annual convention at the Sheraton-Fredericksburg Motor Inn, Fredericksburg, Va.

The acquisition of two major paper money collections by the Division of Numismatics of the Smithsonian Institution will be the topic of the guest speakers. These two collections are the Chase Manhattan Bank Money Museum Collection and, most recently, the previously unknown Treasury Collection.

The Sheraton-Fredersburg Motor Inn requires a definite number of luncheon reservations in advance. If you plan to attend the first day of the V.N.A. Convention please purchase your luncheon ticket on Friday, or if unable to do so, send $6.00 plus a stamped, addressed envelope to E.B. Miller, P.O. Box 1133, Leesburg, VA 22401.

THE NIGHT OF THE SALAMANDER*

August 25th, 1854

by C. John Ferreri

Waldoboro, Maine

The search for interesting sidelights of obsolete bank note collecting goes on. Often times a historical event of major or minor significance was to be recorded on the back side of a handy note. The note pictured here, although from the small seaport town of Rockport, Mass., evidently made its way to another seaport town in the state of Maine and passed through the "fires of hell" as related by the notation on the reverse. The notation reads:

"This bill was deposited in one of Wilder's Salamander Safes and passed through the great fire at Waldoboro, Maine August 25th, 1854. Thirty-seven stores with their contents, two banks (presumably the Medomak Bank and Waldoboro Bank), Custom House, Post Office, hotel, school house and many offices and mechanics shops together with a large number of dwelling houses were destroyed."

Evidently the Salamander Safe was well named, as this bill shows no trace of the ordeal it has passed through that fateful night.

* A mythical animal able to endure fire without harm.

FERENC RAKOCZI II, PRINCE OF TRANSYLVANIA

(Editor's Note: The following is one of a series of articles by a Budapest paper money historian on national heroes depicted on Hungary's paper currency. English is a second language for Dr. Kupa and to preserve some of the flavor of the articles they have been edited only to the point necessary for clarity to the majority of readers.)

Portrait of Ference Rakoczi as it appears on 1920 50 Kronen note.

by Dr. Michael Kupa

In spring 1703, the leaders of the New Kuruts (national) movement, called on Ferenc (Franz) Rakoczi to ask him to lead the rising against the Hapsburgs. As it was his only way out of exile, Rakoczi therefore accepted, and issued a proclamation dated from Brezan in Poland, where he was in exile, calling upon all orders and degrees of nobles and the non-noble inhabitants of Hungary to defend the freedom of the nation against the Hapsburgs' tyranny.

Thousands of Hungarian, Ruthenian and Slovak peasants massed under Rakoczi's flag which bore the words CUM DEO PRO PATRIA ET LIBERTATE (With God for Country and Freedom).

Rakoczi had to fight the War of Independence under extremely difficult economic conditions. The foreign powers (France, England, Holland and Germany) did not give him financial support; therefore Sandor Karolyi, commander-in-chief of the Kuruts Army — against Rakoczi's wishes — made peace with the Hapsburgs in 1711 at Szatmar.

Rakoczi's portrait appears on the state-note of 50 Crowns (Kronen) dated 1 January 1920 (Pick-62). It was engraved by a Hungarian graphist Ferenc Helbing from a painting by Adam Manyoki. The portrait also appears on the notes of the Hungarian National Bank of 50 Pengo dated 1 March 1926 (P-92) and again 5 April 1945 (P-110), both portraits being engraved by Helbing.

Other notes on which Rakoczi appears are the 50 Florins (Forint) dated 1 September 1951 (P-153), 3 September 1965 (P-164) and 30 June 1969 (P-168), engraved by Endre Horvath and Istvan Reck.

The notes of Pengo and Forint denominations were printed by the Hungarian Note Printing Office in Budapest.

THE UNKNOWN FACTOR

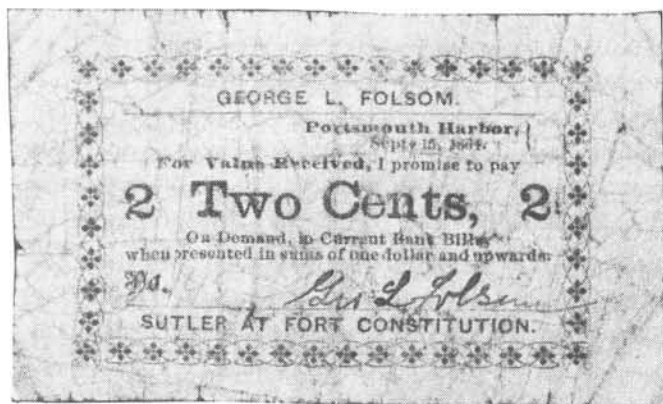

By LEONARD H. FINN

(From time to time under this title will be printed photographs or identification of notes which have some puzzling aspect and about which information is sought from the membership. Please address comments to the Editor.)

Twenty-five cents note from "Shakspeare" (sic). Where did it originate?

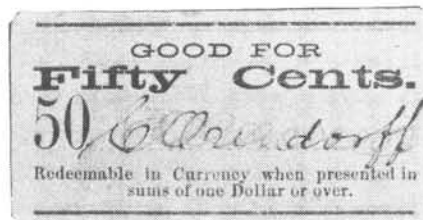

This is a two-cent sutler note on George Folsom at Fort Constitution, Portsmouth Harbor. Where is this?

"Good for 2½ Cts. in Trade" at Radabaugh's Pool Room. Where was this place of amusement?

A ten-cent sutler note on cardboard signed by S. Merrill. Where did it originate?

"Good For Fifty Cents", signed by Orendorff(?). Where was he located?

"Good For 5¢ Loaf Bread At Rhinehart's Grocery." Where was this store?

The Buck Stops Here

As I write this on the third of August, I fervently hope that the issue in which it appears will be more satisfactory and timely than the July/August effort. I offer my apologies for that rather truncated issue. It seems that the fates have been against all of us connected with the magazine. The copy and advertising deadline coincided with my departure for a combined business/pleasure trip arranged long before I again accepted the editorship of Paper Money. Doug Watson very kindly filled in the gaps for me, but in the transfer of typesetting operations, the text for four of the major articles was lost. I was greeted with that good news upon my return home and had to rush some articles planned for this issue into the gaping holes. Of course, the delay meant we lost our scheduled slot at the typesetters and printers, with the result being the very late delivery of No. 76.

We have been able to replace all of the missing articles, so eventually the authors as well as the readers will be accommodated. We have also taken steps to insure that such a "disaster" does not happen again. You know the old saying about "a first time for everything". Well, I can say quite truthfully that was a first in my 20 years of editing philatelic and numismatic publications!

Putting this unfortunate incident behind me and buoyed by the understanding of all concerned, especially the advertisers, I shall continue to work to improve our already excellent magazine.

Especially needed are good substantial articles on world paper money. I sometimes feel, in moments of despair, that there seems to be a conspiracy of some sort working to keep us restricted to the U.S. field. Who of the big names in world paper money collecting will take a chance on us with their literary efforts? And who of the newer but able group of enthusiasts will let us put their names before the public as collector-students to be reckoned with in the future? I shall await an answer.

CANADA DRY USES SHINPLASTER

During the month of June, 1978, Canadian Sunday newspaper supplements carried advertisements for Canada Dry Ginger Ale which featured a sketchy replica of the Dominion 25¢ fractional currency note. "For our 75th birthday we'll give you one shinplaster off," the headline proclaimed. "Back in 1903, the shinplaster was a 25¢ bank note. And shinplasters were in circulation until the government recalled them in 1935. but, for a limited period of 4 weeks you can use the shinplaster in our coupon to save 25¢ on your next purchase of two bottles of family-sized Canada Dry."

circulation of only $5000 (Table 3). Large notes on this bank are flaming rarities. I have been able to document only one $10 1902 Blue Seal Plain Back state note from the bank. Three other large notes are known, all territorials including two $10 Red Seals (half of the known Arizona supply) and a $10 Date Back. Obviously others exist but this bank is one of Arizona's rarest large-size issuers while common in small size. Tempe (5720) — well, notes from this small bank are rare in both sizes and they are probably not fully appreciated today because Tempe is part of the sprawling Phoenix metropolitan area.

"PAPER BRINGS TOP DOLLAR AT NEW ENGLAND AUCTION."

Some of the finest in rare U.S. paper currency has been consigned to New England Rare Coin Auctions in the past, and our consignors have realized some of the most impressive prices in the market for these quality items. Our record speaks for itself. But at New England, we give you even more than outstanding prices. We give your collection the exposure it needs to attract the highest bidders.

We publish auction catalogs that are unparalleled for photography and detail — and these catalogs are distributed to an expanding mailing list of active numismatists and syngraphists both in this country and abroad.

We travel with your collection to several conventions across the country before each auction, in order to give potential bidders an opportunity to examine your currency — PLUS, we offer an exclusive Personal Bidding Service to prospective bidders who are unable to attend the auction in person. Qualified auction bidder-representatives examine lots and execute bids, thus giving the broadest possible market access to your collection.

Examine the record, then give us a call. Let your paper currency bring top dollar at a New England auction.

BANKNOTES ARE OUR BUSINESS

IF YOU ARE SELLING:

We are seriously interested in acquiring large size and scarcer small size United States paper money. We are interested in single items as well as extensive collections. We are especially in need of national bank notes and we also buy foreign paper money. If you have a collection which includes both paper money and coins, it may prove in your best financial interest to obtain a separate bid from us on your paper money as we deal exclusively and full time in paper money. We will fly to purchase if your holdings warrant.

IF YOU ARE BUYING:

We issue periodic extensive lists of U.S. paper money, both large size, small size and fractional. Our next list is yours for the asking.

WANTED TO BUY PAPER MONEY

We are in need of some choice CU notes. CU only, no folds, pinholes, bad spots, or too far off-center, etc.

We have been at the same location for over 14 years but it has just been the last few months that we have been trying to build up our inventory of U.S. paper money and we need your help and will pay for it.

When shipping to us wrap it well, send it registered mail for the value and a return receipt will tell you the day we receive it. Please ship it with an invoice and your phone number.

All notes listed by Friedberg are buy prices are for choice CU notes.

NATIONAL BANK DATA

The most important investment the intelligent collector can make is in his library. This is especially true for the collector of national bank notes. I am offering the comprehensive statistical breakdowns for all the national banks. Organized by state, these sheets detail by charter period, type, denomination, and serial number the exact number of notes issued by each institution. Also listed are the latest available circulation figures for both large and small size notes outstanding on each bank.

By offering this material at prices significantly lower than I've seen advertised from any other source I hope to encourage a wider distribution of this valuable data in the collector community.

Alaska	$3.00	Louisiana	$12.00	Oklahoma	$39.00
Alabama	$15.00	Maine	$15.00	Oregon	$15.00
Arkansas	$15.00	Maryland	$17.50	Pennsylvania	$49.00
Arizona	$5.00	Massachusetts	$32.50	Puerto Rico	$5.00
California	$17.50	Michigan	$29.00	Rhode Island	$12.50
Colorado	$15.00	Minnesota	$32.50	South Carolina	$10.00
Connecticut	$15.00	Mississippi	$5.00	South Dakota	$20.00
Delaware	$3.00	Missouri	$25.00	Tennessee	$20.00
D.C.	$5.00	Montana	$15.00	Texas	$40.00
Florida	$15.00	Nebraska	$29.00	Utah	$7.00
Georgia	$15.00	Nevada	$5.00	Vermont	$14.00
Hawaii	$3.00	New Hampshire	$10.00	Virginia	$17.00
Idaho	$15.00	New Jersey	$30.00	Washington	$16.00
Illinois	$42.50	New Mexico	$7.50	West Virginia	$19.00
Indiana	$25.00	New York	$42.50	Wisconsin	$19.00
Iowa	$29.00	North Carolina	$15.00	Wyoming	$9.00
Kansas	$29.00	North Dakota	$19.00
Kentucky	$19.00	Ohio	$30.00

These breakdowns are an essential tool for the serious investor or dedicated collector. Even some relatively common banks have scarce issues within a particular type of note. Conversely, some banks with a low total outstanding figure may have notes which are surprisingly available if their issue was concentrated within a particular charter period or type.

These data sheets will make it possible for you to recognize the true rarity of material you may wish to consider acquiring for your collection. By enabling you to avoid even a single overpriced note, or to obtain one unrecognized rarity, this is an investment which will pay for itself.

Your order for one or more states will receive my prompt attention. All prices include delivery.

Also offered are two informative books:

Central States National Banks Notes by Counties
by C.E. Hilliard $25.00

For the collector specializing in this region the author lists national banks by county for Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, and Wisconsin.

National Banks of the United States 1863-1935 by Robert Ramsey and Robert Polito $39.00

Normally retailing for $45.00 this recent work is a valuable supplement to the full data sheets. Next to the complete data sheets it is the most detailed compilation of national bank statistics available. The specialist might want to consider acquiring the data sheets for the states of his particular interest and this work as a general reference source for all other states.

Thinking of selling your currency collection?

Do what other leading collectors have done and consign it to a

Bowers and Ruddy Galleries Auction Sale

When Matt Rothert, distinguished past president of the American Numismatic Association, and owner of one of the largest and most comprehensive collections of United States regular and fractional currency and Robert A. Russell, who formed one of the most spectacular collections of United States fractional currency, decided to sell their collections there was only one choice — a Bowers and Ruddy Galleries public auction sale. The results? Spectacular! Collectors from all over the world participated in the auction and many new price records were set.

While the past record is dazzling — and we've certainly had more than our share of outstanding currency pieces and collections — the most important question RIGHT NOW is YOU!

Thinking of selling? Write or telephone (toll free) Bob Korver of our Auction Department for details, including a free descriptive brochure which tells you all about selling at auction.

"Right now we are accepting consignments for our next several auction sales. Each catalog will be in the 'grand format' style and will be a permanent reference for years to come. Contact us now, and your currency can be included. If desired, immediate cash advances can be given. In this way you have all the benefits of selling at auction plus the advantage of having instant money to spend right now.

Write or call now (use the coupon if you wish) and complete information will be sent to you."

SUPERB CUT-SHEETS OF FOUR

Beautiful 'Cut-Sheets' from the famous James M. Wade Collection

Beautiful Crisp New 'Cut Sheets of Four' — when reconstructed, they form a sheet as originally issued. In years past, valuations of the more common notes were generally 5 times the price for a single note — with the scarcer 'Cut-Sheets' going at a much higher price. We offer the following — only one sheet of each.

LEGAL TENDER

It pays to look closely.

You know that it pays to look closely when collecting. It does when you are thinking of selling, too. Since you collected with such care, we know you want to be equally as careful when selling. At Medlar's, we take pride in the fact that we've been buying and selling currency for over 25 years. So, we feel we must be doing something right for our many friends and customers.

WE ARE BUYING:

Texas Currency, Obsoletes and Nationals, Western States Obsoletes and Nationals, U.S. and Foreign Coins. We will travel to you to examine your holdings, Professional Appraisals, or as Expert Witness.

BOOKS

THE DESCRIPTIVE REGISTER OF GENUINE BANK NOTES by Gwynne & Day 1862. 168 pp Cloth bound. 1977 reprint by Pennel Publishing Co. $15.00 postpaid.

This book contains descriptions of over 10,000 genuine bank notes from 31 states and territories plus 24 Canadian banks. It also identifies notes known to have been counterfeited. The names and locations of over 800 closed banks are included in the supplements. It is believed that this book was the basis of the famous Wismer Lists published by the ANA 50 years ago. A must for collectors and researchers of obsolete notes. We bound 10 copies in genuine leather and interleaved them with plain pages (for your own notes) and offer them subject to prior sale for $60.00 each.

HODGES' AMERICAN BANK NOTE SAFE-GUARD by Edward M. Hodges 1865. 350 pp Cloth bound. 1977 reprint by Pennel Publishing Co. $19.50 postpaid.

"Hodges' " as this book is known, contains descriptions of over 10,000 genuine notes from 30 states, 19 Canadian banks, and the United States notes issued prior to 1865. This 1865 edition was copyrighted in 1864 and at this time the United States was at war with the Confederate States. As a result the listing for six Southern states were not included because they were not a part of the United States. Louisiana was included as in 1864 it was occupied by Union troops under the infamous General Butler. West Virginia was added to this edition as it seceded from Virginia and join the Union in 1863. We have added a section from the 1863 edition (copyrighted in 1862) containing the six states deleted from the 1865 edition making this reprint the most comprehensive Hodges' ever printed. The format used consists of three rows of ten notes listed in rectangles on each page. To quote from E.M. Hodges "The SAFEGUARD is almost indispensable." Collectors will agree with him. We bound 10 copies in genuine leather and interleaved them with plain paper (for your own notes) and offer them subject to prior sale for $75.00 each.

THE BANK OF THE STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA by Dr. F. Mauldin Lesesne 1970. 221 pp Hand bound. University of South Carolina Press $14.95 postpaid.

The South had many colorful banks prior to the Civil War, but few could compare with the Bank of the State of South Carolina. From its charter in 1812 until 1881 when its history ended, it was colorful, controversial, and redeemed its issued notes. The "faith and credit" of the State of South Carolina was pledged to back this bank. Dr. Lesesne's account of this bank is interesting reading to both collector of paper money and historical students. Few banks have such detailed accounts of their life as the Bank of the State of South Carolina. The book is annotated and has a wonderful bibliography. If you only read one bank history, and should read this one as it will interest both South Carolinians and non-Carolinians alike. It is just an excellent story of a very important bank.
